

Deanna Hanes

Deanna Hanes lives in Kingston, Ontario with her husband and three sons, but is originally from the Canadian Maritimes. Deanna discovered Pickleball in the summer on 2016 and has been hooked since.

While Deanna is recognized as a strong tournament player, she may be better known for her work off the court. Deanna is the current President of the Kingston Pickleball Club and has helped the club grow into a very active tournament community, having most recently held the 2019 Canadian Nationals. Deanna is also a member of the Pickleball Ontario Board of Directors and is leading the development of the Ontario Provincial Team Selection Criteria. Whether it is policy development, tournament management, refereeing, or bringing new players into the game, Deanna is a favourite on the Pickleball circuit.

When she is not on the Pickleball court, Deanna can be found working for the Ontario Government. She is currently a Senior Manager but has held many IT, policy, and program development positions in her 21 year career. She is a certified Project Management Professional and a Business Relationship Management Professional.

You can always count on Deanna to keep things running smoothly while keeping a smile on her face and engaging those around her.
